RE: Correction to Prior Invoices

Dear Mr. Wompler,

We are writing to inform you that FAKECO identified a billing error affecting invoices issued since June of last year. The error was caused by an arithmetic mistake in our billing software; this means that there was a 13% over-charge. The software error has been corrected as of the current monthly billing cycle.

We acknowledge the error and its impact on Comban LLC and understand any frustration that stems from this error. FAKECO will repay the over-billed amounts in installments. This approach enables us to repay you the over-charged money while allowing FAKECO to continue to provide Comban LLC our services.

What to expect next: You will receive a statement with details of the total overage on your account and the schedule of the repayments. Future invoices will reflect corrected rates.

If you have questions about this notice, please contact the FAKECO Communications Department, preferably through email. We appreciate your understanding and continued partnership.

Sincerely, FAKECO Communications Department
